

Electricity - conductors and insulators.

In our topic of electricity, this week we have been learning all about what conductors and insulators are. The children in Celyn had fun working with their friends, making electrical circuits and experimenting with different materials to find out what materials are insulators and what materials are conductors of electricity.

